BULLETIN 5:53 P. M.

Root's statement says that the convention no longer represents the Republican party, and that therefore he asks Roosevelt delegates to decline to vote any further. However, if they do vote he doesn't release them. He further denounced the placing of the contested Taft delegates on the roll.

BULLETIN 3:30 P. M.

Chairman Root introduced Allen of Kansas, who, by unanimous consent, states attitude of Roosevelt. He has a statement from Roosevelt, but the mention of Roosevelt's name starts a long demonstration.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 22--Special to Telegraph--The fifth day of the republican national convention opened at 10:46 this morning when Chairman Root dropped his gavel, after a several minute conference on the platform with Penrose and Craine. The meeting was expected to convene at 10 a. m., but the delegates were slow in arriving and taking their places on the floor. The credentials committee resumed their task of making reports on the various state contests.

Continue Seating for Taft.
The Mississippi state delegates-at-large were seated for Taft by the convention without a roll call. Later all the contested delegates in Mississippi were seated for the president.

Exceeding the Speed Limit.
The colored delegates raised a point on order when they asked whether or not the steam roller was not exceeding the speed limit.

They were sustained by Chairman Root, who explained that they hoped to be able to go home by Sunday.

The convention then seated the Taft delegates from Washington, thereby sustaining the majority report of the credentials committee.

Crowd Is Noisy.
The convention is very disorderly and noisy and the officials find it difficult to maintain order. The Roosevelt forces sing and cheer and shout "Teddy."

At 2:12 o'clock the credentials committee was still wrangling over the report of the Texas contests.

Come Near Blows.
Devine of Colorado and McCormick of Illinois nearly came to blows when one argument was at its height.

After a wait of two hours the credentials committee came in with a report on the Virginia contests and the majority report of the convention, which favored the seating of the Taft delegates in Virginia, and was adopted by the convention without a roll call.

The convention also adopted the majority report of the credentials committee, which seats the Taft delegates-at-large in Texas.

Two for Roosevelt.

In deciding the Texas district contests at 3:15 o'clock, the committee seated two Roosevelt delegates, but placed all of the others for Taft.

Make Organization Permanent.

The permanent roll is complete and the temporary organization has been made permanent.

AUTO HITS BUGGY I. JURES WOMAN

GENERAL MANAGER BRADFORD OF STERLING FACTORY SAID TO HAVE STRUCK WOMAN WITH CAR LAST NIGHT.

WAS UNCONSCIOUS ALL NIGHT

Dennis Cross and Wife of Prairieville Were Occupants of Rig--Sterling Man Said Not to Be to Blame--Doctors Attend Victim.

Mrs. Dennis Cross of Prairieville was painfully hurt and suffered a severe nervous shock last evening when the buggy in which she and her husband were returning to their home from Dixon, was struck and overturned by an automobile said to have been driven by Allen Bradford, general manager of the Russell, Burdall, Ward factory in Sterling, at about 10 o'clock.

The accident happened near Gap Grove and was due to the uncertainty of Mr. and Mrs. Cross as to which road, the dirt or macadam, the automobile was on. As near as can be learned Mr. and Mrs. Cross both heard the automobile approaching from the rear, and turned off into the dirt road when they heard the warning of the automobile horn.

Turned Buggy Over.

From the information at hand it is supposed they became confused, for they turned back onto the pike road just in front of the approaching car. The driver retarded the speed of his car as much as possible, but the automobile struck the buggy, turning it completely over onto the dirt road.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cross were thrown out, the lady striking on her head, inflicting a scalp wound in the back of her head and a bad contusion on her cheek. She was unconscious when picked up, and remained in that condition until this morning, although medical aid was summoned at once. It is thought her unconscious condition resulted more from fright and nervous shock than from the injuries she received, and her physician anticipates no serious results.

Driver Offers Aid.

The driver stopped his car immediately after the accident and did all in his power to relieve the victims of the accident. He assisted in righting the overturned buggy and in repairing the damage, and has offered to settle any damages that may have resulted from the unfortunate occurrence.

BIRTH RECORD.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sworm Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Morris of the Dutch Road are the parents of a son born Wednesday.

COMES TO HER

HUSBAND'S BEDSIDE.
Mrs. Harry Pope of Freeport came to Dixon this morning, called here by the accident to her husband, an account of which will be found elsewhere in this issue of the Telegraph.

VALENTINE IS RELEASED.

Joe Valentine was released from the county jail today by Deputy Sheriff Phillips, his sentence of ten days having expired this morning.

Mrs. J. M. Hooker and guest, Mrs. Chapel, spent Wednesday in Sterling with Mrs. Echterbach.

M. L. Palmer of the Illinois Northern Utilities company, and wife of Chicago are over Sunday visitors at the Nachusa House.

J. W. Bowser and wife and W. G. Swartz are over Sunday visitors at the Nachusa House.

Dr. C. M. Hazelton of Morrison of Morrison was in Dixon today.

LADIES ON SPECIAL HAVE GOOD TIME

TRAIN LOAD OF DELEGATES TO CLUB CONVENTION, AMONG WHOM ARE MRS. STEELE AND MRS. LAW OF DIXON.

Sidney, Neb., June 21--Not even a pace of 40 miles an hour across the continent can break women of the reception habit. On board the Illinois special train bound for San Francisco the Arche club of Chicago gave an informal kimona reception this afternoon.

As the only club sending its full quota of delegates and alternates the Arche came on board prepared to extend hospitality.

125 At Reception.

More than 125 women attended the affair, held in the observation car, just after the train crossed the line into Colorado. Every style, color and cut of kimona was worn and bou doir caps topped off the costumes. Receiving with the Arche delegates were Mrs. Minnie Starr Grainger, state president, and Miss Kate O'Connor, goddess of the railroad tracks.

Though going to a convention of their own, Illinois women have not lost interest in the Chicago fight. Mrs. E. C. Duncan of Raleigh, N. C., and wife of the national committeeman from that state, received daily messages from the convention, and passed them around to the waiting crowd.

W. F. Haden of 5817 Indiana avenue, the only man on the train beside the train crew, is accompanying his wife to California. His cry of delight this morning from the rear platform when he spied a man working on the track, was heard through the car, and he waved frantically at the other world until the train swung around a curve and brought him back to a world peering with femininity.

No one has discussed federation plans or possibilities yet and not until late tomorrow afternoon will the women politicians set in the game. Three hours will be spent in Salt Lake City tomorrow, where the train will overtake that of the general reiteration and all visitors will be entertained by Salt Lake clubs.

Note--Mrs. Louise Steele and Mrs. D. H. Law, both of Dixon, are on board the special train as delegates from the Dixon Women's club.

JACOB SENNEFF HAS BEEN CALLED BEYOND

RESPECTED CITIZEN AND VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR IS DEAD--GAVE ARM FOR THE UNION.

Jacob Senneff, a veteran of the Civil war and for many years a respected citizen of Dixon, died suddenly at his home at 613 Crawford avenue, just before noon today, his death resulting from heart trouble, with which he had been afflicted for over two years. The funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock and at the Evangelical church in North Dixon at 1:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Oakwood.

The deceased was born in Fayette county, Pa., July 11, 1836. He was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Fritz on Nov. 15, 1855, and to the union eight children were born, four of whom, with his aged wife, survive to mourn his death. They are: Mrs. Mary A. June of Dixon; Harvey Senneff of Palmyra; Mrs. Ellen Moss-holder of Ladd, Ill., and Mrs. Viola Sheets of Dixon.

Mr. Senneff came to Lee county in 1854 and took up his occupation as a farmer in 1861 when the nation called for volunteers for the rebellion, he responded and served during the war and with credit until near the end of the war, his last battle being that of Bentonville, N. C., March 19, 1865, when he was frightfully and almost fatally wounded, his right arm being shot off, and his left arm being broken and disabled. Since that time he has resided in this community, and his life here has been such as to make him countless friends who will unite with the stricken family in mourning his demise, and who will extend sincere condolence to those relatives.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION DOES GREAT DAMAGE

BUILDINGS BURN WITH AUTOMOBILE WHEN TORCH IGNITES GASOLINE FUMES--WAS POURING FLUID INTO AUTO.

A large barn, machine shed and an automobile, owned by Albert Wiggins of Woosung, were totally destroyed by fire Thursday evening when a small measure of gasoline, from which he was filling the gasoline tank of the car, exploded. Fortunately none of the burning oil was thrown on Mr. Wiggins.

He was filling the gasoline tank of the car at about 7 o'clock Thursday evening and was using a gasoline torch for a light, when the vapors from the open measure ignited. He and his neighbors worked valiantly to prevent the blaze from spreading, but fear of a 25-gallon can of gasoline which they knew was in the auto shed, kept the workers at a respectful distance from the fire. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars, on which there is some insurance.

MARKSMEN PRACTICE.

Messrs. C. G. Reid, R. Sanford, Ira and Lloyd Lewis of the company G rifle team, went to Galt this morning to practice on the state rifle range at that place.

BRAKEMAN SUFFERED UGLY FALL TODAY

HARRY POPE OF FREEPORT WAS JARRED FROM BOX CAR AND LEG WAS FRACTURED--TAKEN TO LOCAL HOSPITAL.

Harry Pope of Freeport, an Illinois Central brakeman, was painfully injured this morning when he was jarred from the top of a box car, while switching in the local Central yards. At about 6 o'clock this morning the injured man was assisting in switching some cars, and was on top of a car setting the brakes when another car bumped into it with sufficient force to knock him off. He fell to the ground and struck in such a way that a compound fracture of the right ankle resulted, the large bone of the leg protruding through the flesh. His right elbow was also dislocated and several of the smaller bones in the right foot were also broken.

The injured man was taken to the Katherine Shaw Bethea hospital, where his injuries were dressed. The nature of the fracture of the ankle is such that it will take some time to heal, and therefore the unfortunate man will be incapacitated for several months.

JUDGE FARRAND TAKES CASE FROM JO DAVIESS COURT UNDER ADVISEMENT--CASE ATTRACTS LEGAL LIGHTS.

Judge Farrand, sitting in the Lee county circuit court, yesterday heard arguments for a new trial in a personal injury case of Burns vs. the Chicago & Great Western railroad, which was tried in the Jo Daviess county circuit court, where a verdict of $7,500 was returned for the plaintiff. The argument for the new trial, which the judge has taken under advisement, brought several distinguished legal lights to Dixon, among them being State Senator Martin Dillon of Galena, Douglas Pattison of Freeport, who was minority leader in the state legislature for several years; States Attorney Frank T. Sheehan of Galena and D. E. McGuire or Dubuque.

This morning the judge kept the court open for any business that local attorneys might wish to bring before him, but none appeared, and accordingly the court was adjourned until 9 a. m., July 13th.

IS CHARGED WITH BURGLARIES IN POLO

Polo Visitor: Charles Myers was arrested Wednesday charged with the burglaries that have been committed the past few weeks in Polo. Probably a dozen homes were entered and although not much of value was taken it will probably go hard with Myers unless he can prove his innocence. The thief seemed to be looking for money in each case but $6 which disappeared from the P. W. Bracken home was the largest sum secured anywhere.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S ORGANIZATION IS 'ROOSEVELT PROOF'

Repeated Roll Calls Show Administration Men in Control of Convention and Contests Decisions.

MAY NOMINATE TODAY

Leaders Express Belief That Candidate May Be Named This Afternoon and End With Night Session.

HADLEY'S SUBSTITUTE IS LOST

Motion Is Tabled by Vote of 605 to 464--On This Ballot Idaho's Eight and Twenty-Five of Wisconsin's Votes Were Cast on the Taft Side--Dramatic Incident of Day's Session Was Vote on Fourth California Contest.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 22.--President Taft's organization in the Republican national convention demonstrated again here that it was "Roosevelt proof" when it thrice defeated the opposition on roll calls on reports from the credentials committee bearing on contested cases.

After this series of reverses to the Roosevelt forces, the belief was expressed by some of the leaders that it might be possible for the convention to make its nominations today, and complete its work with a night session.

When the committee report on the Ninth Alabama case was presented, Governor Hadley moved that none of the 78 delegates against whom the Roosevelt delegates are centering their fight should be permitted to vote on the committee's findings. That was tabled by a vote of 569 to 499, with ten not voting.

Hadley Moves a Substitute.

Then Governor Hadley moved to substitute the minority for the majority report of the committee, and that was tabled by a vote of 605 to 464. On this ballot Idaho cast its eight votes and Wisconsin 25 of its votes on the Taft side. It was explained these states reversed themselves to sustain their members of the credentials committee, who had voted with the Taft majority on this case.

Following the vote the report of the committee on credentials was adopted without a roll call, and the majority report on the Arizona case was presented. Governor Hadley moved to substitute the minority report, and that was tabled by a vote of 564 to 497, with 17 not voting. On this vote Idaho and Wisconsin swung back to the Roosevelt side.

Will Limit Roll Calls.

Governor Hadley then announced the minority would demand roll calls only on the California, Texas and Washington cases. In harmony with that statement the report on the Fifth Arkansas was adopted by a viva voce vote.

The dramatic incident of yesterday's session occurred shortly after four o'clock. The chairman of the credentials committee presented the majority report in the case of the contests in the Fourth California district, and moved its adoption. Chairman Root put the motion immediately and called for an aye and no vote which he declared carried. The entire California delegation were on their feet almost instantly demanding that the two Roosevelt delegates be seated. A reconsideration was moved and the chairman declared it carried on an aye and no vote, after which a minority report was read and its adoption moved. The minority report was finally tabled by a vote of 529 ayes to 542 noes, seven not voting. The two Taft delegates in the California delegation do not sit with the delegation, but occupy chairs in the gallery immediately behind the speakers' platform.

After having contended vainly for one report which should cover all the contested cases, the Roosevelt leaders were forced by the Taft majority of the committee on credentials to strike their issue on a single case, and a report on the Ninth Alabama contest was submitted to the convention at about 12:30 o'clock.

Governor Hadley, commanding the Roosevelt followers, said he would make the same fight on this piecemeal report that he had contemplated making on a complete report, for this is one of the districts which the friends of Roosevelt assert is theirs of right, and that it was stolen from them.

Georgia Cases End Quickly.
The next report dealt with the Georgia cases, being in favor of seating the delegation-at-large. There was no minority report and not a dissent.

Have great possibilities and nature has lavished many gifts upon you; are a thinker, but often lack continuity of thought, purpose and affection. Poverty grinds you sadly, and unless you have enough to gratify your desires can be dismayingly unhappy. If a woman, are apt to be nervous and hysterical unless overcome in early life; if a man, careless in manner.

Cosy-Bealer.

A wedding ceremony, beautiful in its simplicity, was performed this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Elliott, 328 Central Place, when that lady's niece, Miss Elsie Cosy, of Sterling, was united in holy wedlock to Clyde Bealer of Morrison, Ill. Rev. F. D. Stone performed the ceremony.

These bride, who is a very winsome young lady with hosts of friends, the daughter of Mrs. V. A. Cosy of Sterling, was attired in a very pretty gown of white voile over white mesaline. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The decorations of the home were green and white. The ceremony was very simple and informal, there being no attendants to the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Bealer left this afternoon for Morrison, where the parents of the groom reside, and from there they will go on a wedding trip through several of the western states.

Mr. Bealer has been an instructor in the Sterling college, but has accepted a position in a school in Bloomington, where the couple will make their home. The news of the wedding will be a surprise to their many friends.

Sneed-Fahrney Wedding.

Sterling, June 22.—Special to the Telegraph—Miss Louise Kathleen Sneed of Sterling and Mr. Elmer Fahrney of Dixon were united in marriage this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Partridge by Rev. F. W. Barr of the Presbyterian church.

The beautiful young bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Anthony and Fred Sneed, formerly of Dixon.

The wedding was very simple and only the immediate relatives were present. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Colorado, where they intend to make their future home.

Money Value of Women.

If you are a married woman, and were asked to tell just what you were worth in hard cash to your husband, what figure would you name? The question is not a fanciful one by any means, but has been a subject of judicial consideration.

It was this way: The wife of an Iowa farmer bought a gallon of what purported to be kerosene, but which was afterward shown to be 21 per cent. gasoline. When the woman used some of it to start a fire with the stuff exploded, and she was burnt to death and her three children were seriously injured. The woman's husband sued the dealers for damages, and the jury awarded him $25 for the loss of his wife and $299.71 per child on account of injuries.

The defendants evidently thought that a woman was not worth $25, for they took an appeal from the verdict. The learned court, however, declined to look at it in that light, and the judgment was affirmed.—New York Mail.

How to Become a Neurasthenic.

Eat no breakfast. Indulge in but one meal daily; at any rate not more than two. Eat no meat. Eat freak cereals, vegetables, nuts and fruit. Masturbate every morsel 268 times—267 times won't do. Take a cold bath every morning.

Be massaged daily. Read the health magazines daily. Read all the books on how to gain self-control and on psychotherapy. Concentrate the mind upon the digestion and upon all articles of diet. Upon every possible occasion discuss your imaginary troubles with your friends and coerce your wife into entering to every dietetic whim that you can formulate. Buy a lot of apparatus for indoor exercise and roll a cannon ball around over selected portions of one's anatomy.—Critic and Guide.

Depending On.

An artist of international fame recently had a bright little Swedish girl posing for him, and thinking to keep her expression animated, he conversed with her while he worked.

"Do you go to school, Ragnhild?" the great man inquired with affable complacency.

"Oh yes," was the reply.

"And what are you going to be when you grow up?"

Ragnhild's face beamed.

"If I have sense," she answered, "I will be a school teacher. If I have no sense, I will paint pictures—like you."

THE LEGISLATURE

In passing the presidential primary law, the Woodmen referendum bill and a few other measures of less importance, the extra session of the legislature did enough good work to offset in a large measure the stigma of legislative blackmail which Lee O'Neil Browne and his adherents placed upon it.

The one big disappointment of the session (for which the Browne clique was also to blame, by the way) was the failure to pass the resolution providing for a constitutional amendment which will permit the submission to the people of more than one congressional amendment at each general election. There is no rational reason why there should be a limit of one on the propositions upon which the people can pass judgment at an election.

For a long time three amendment propositions, all of merit, have been held up owing to the fact that but one can appear on the ballot at a time, while no two of the sponsors of the various amendments will yield precedence to the order. Our constitution must grow to keep pace with the times, and its growth should not be hindered by the one-amendment restriction.

Votes for women via the moving pictures is the latest feature adopted by the enterprising moving picture companies. Knowing this subject to be the most prominent one throughout the United States today their audiences will be given an opportunity to see why thinking women the world over are demanding a voice in the laws of the nation.

Miss Mary M. Bartelme of Chicago has just been appointed Assistant Judge of the juvenile court of Cook Co., Ill., and will preside over a separate division devoted to the trial of girls and young women charged with minor offenses and delinquency. Miss Bartelme is lawyer and several years ago was appointed Public Guardian of Cook county, which office she conducted so successfully that it has led to her elevation to the bench. Miss Bartelme is an ardent supporter of woman suffrage and an associate of Miss Jane Adams of Hull House.

The remains will arrive in Dixon on Tuesday morning from the south. Further notice and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

STOPPED THE CHILD'S CRIES

Sudden Philanthropy of Newsboy Put an End to Wails of the Youngster.

Nobody seemed to know what he was crying about, but it must have been something, for the youngster was running the entire gamut of infantile shrieks. He was a tow-headed, lace-collared little chap of four or five, down town on a shopping tour with his mother, a large, fashionably attired woman of the society type.

People along the street turned and looked at the waiting youngster, but it wasn't up to them to say anything and they just let him cry. The mother tried to hush him, but to no avail. Whatever it was that he was so lachrymous and worked up over had him right. Then strolled up a little newsboy—a lad probably nine or ten years of age, but not much larger than the five-year-old. The newsboy was just starting to eat a banana when he heard the shrill shrieks of the smaller kid. Whether as a joke or in a spirit of magnanimity he rushed up alongside of the astonished mother, placed the banana in her son's hand and says:

"Here, bo, eat that an' stop your yellin'."

And the unexpectedness of the gift did actually stop the noise and tears in about two seconds and a half.

Some Time to Wait.

One evening an Irishman chanced to drop into a quiet meeting house of the Quakers, and being rather astonished as to what manner of place it was, resolved to remain quiet and listen. He behaved with remarkable decorum until a broad brim, no doubt moved by the spirit, informed his hearer: "I have married a wife," evidently being about to use this as a text. Pat was excited and called out, "The devil ye have."

This interruption rather confused the young man, but he continued: "I have married a daughter of the Lord." This was too much for our Emerald Islander, who exclaimed: "Sit down, ye spalpeen! It'll be a long time before ye see your father-in-law."

DEMONTOWN

Harry Gerdes, that accommodating young man who hustles the baggage at the Northwestern, appeared on the job in a brand new suit this morning.

Likewise Shy Manges appeared on the streets in a new straw lid this a. m.

Whereupon the Observer observes that summer must have come.

But none of the above dope furnished any satisfactory explanation for John Coakley failing to get to work until noon yesterday, especially as he admits his alarm clock worked all right.

Paul Dixon, so we are informed, is considering the advisability of purchasing a new wagon. It comes to this col. that the one thing that has kept him from pursuing that course was the fear that he would be "written up" in the Dailys. We promise not to do it, Paul. Go ahead and buy your wagon.

Now if the democrats will do their part, as has been their habit, there'll be more good reading in next week's Telegraph, for the Telegraph will have a wire direct to the Baltimore convention.

How Fame Doth Spread.

Under the caption, "Eats Were Meagre," the current issue of the Amboy News says: "According to the information from Dixon sources, the nature and extent of the hospitality extended by the Dixon bankers the other day to their guests, the members of the Bankers' association, was such as to inspire the suggestion that the next meeting be held at Starved Rock."

Goose Hollow Dope.

Hi Perkins and son Seth returned hum the other night from Chicago, and he certainly has been fillin' us up with stories of the wonderful things he has seen up there, and incidentally how he stowed away the stub of a theatre ticket as a souvenir of the occasion. He showed your correspondent that there ticket and he caught him in a good one, for he said that ticket cost a dollar, and it said right on it in plain words "10 Center." If Seth paid one bean for that ticket he was a sucker, say we.

THE OLD STORY

"Tomorrow," he promised his conscience.

"Tomorrow I mean to be good; tomorrow I'll think as I ought to; tomorrow I'll do as I should. Tomorrow I'll conquer the habits that hold me from heaven away."

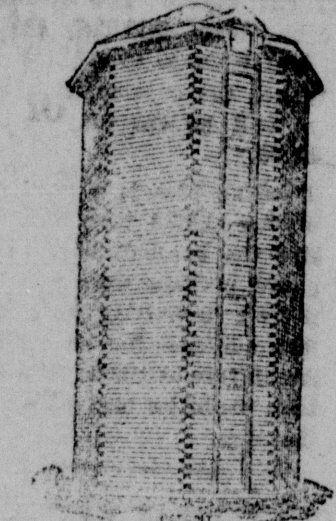

But ever his conscience repented one word, and one only, "Today"

Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow, thus day after day it went on; Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow—youth like vision was gone; Till age and his passions had written the message of fate on his brow And forth from the shadows came Death, with the pitiless syllable, Now.

ing voice when the last delegates were seated on a viva voce vote.

The Indiana cases came next. Majority and minority reports were submitted, the delegates-at-large being first considered. The majority favored the sitting Taft delegates, former Vice-President Fairbanks, Harry S. New, James E. Watson, the floor leader, and Joseph D. Oliver. The Taft delegates were seated without a roll call.

The Thirtieth district delegates from Indiana next were taken up, the credentials committee favoring the Taft men, who were seated without a roll call.

Then came the Eleventh Kentucky district contest, in which the credentials committee recommended the seating of one Taft and one Roosevelt man. This plan was accepted by the convention. Again there was no roll call.

The Seventh Kentucky contest also brought out majority and minority reports, not appearing to want to go home for ports. The Taft delegates were seated.

Hints at Over Sunday Session.

In the Eighth Kentucky cases the "nays" were loud and prolonged.

"There are some delegates here who Sunday," said Senator Root. Then, as he gained attention, he added: "The yeas appear to have it."

In the Fourth Louisiana case, after the usual chorus of "nays," Senator Root added to the merriment by exclaiming:

"The yeas plainly have it."

The Fifth Louisiana contest brought a unanimous report in favor of the Taft delegates.

The case of the Michigan delegates-at-large came next, the sitting Taft delegates having again been favored by the credentials committee.

The 18 Taft delegates from Mississippi were seated after a short debate. No roll call was asked. The Taft delegates had been unanimously seated by the national committee.

At 7:38, with utter confusion reigning, adjournment was taken until ten o'clock this morning.

OPPORTUNITY.

Master of human destinies am I.
Fame, love and fortune on my foot steps wait,
Cities and fields I walk. I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote, and, passing by
Hovel and mart and palace, soon or late,
I knock, unbidden, once at every gate.
If sleeping, wake; if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me, reach every state
Mortals desire and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemned to failure, penury and woe.
Seek me in vain, and uselessly implore.
I answer not, and I return no more.

—J. J. Ingalls.

II.

They do me wrong who say I come no more,
When once I knock and fail to find you in,
For every day I stand outside your door
And bid you wake, to ride, to fight and win.
Wait not for precious chances; passed away,
Weep not for golden ages on the wane.
Each night I burn the records of the day,
At sunrise every soul is born again.
Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To vanished joys be blind and deaf and dumb.
My judgment seals the dead past with its dead,
But never binds a moment yet to come.
Thou' deep in mire, wring not your hands and weep;
I lend my arm to all who say "I can!"

No shamefaced outcast ever sank so deep
But yet might rise and be again a man.
Dost thou behold thy lost youth all aghast?
Dost reel from righteous retribution's blow?
Then turn from blotted archives of the past,
And find the future's pages white as snow.
Art thou a mourner? Rouse thee from thy spell!
Art thou a sinner? Sins may be forgiven.

Each morning gives thee wings to flee from hell.
Each night a star to guide thy feet to heaven.

SUGAR ON FREE LIST

HOUSE PASSES DEMOCRATIC BILL BY VOTE OF 198 TO 103.

Republicans Offer Various Amendments to Retain Nominal Duty, But All Are Defeated.

Washington, March 16.—By a vote of 198 to 103 the house passed the Democratic bill placing sugar on the free list.

Both Representative Underwood and Minority Leader Mann demanded a roll call on the final passage of the bill, so as to put each member of the house on record. A heated partisan debate under the five-minute rule preceded the passage of the measure.

Various Republican amendments were offered, the majority of them seeking to place a nominal duty on sugar. All amendments were defeated and the bill passed the house as it came from the ways and means committee.

According to the Democratic leaders the measure, if it becomes a law, will reduce the price of sugar to consumers about 1½ cents a pound, an aggregate saving of $115,000,000 annually to the households of the nation. The loss of $53,000,000 revenue annually from sugar duties will be offset, under the Democratic plan, by the proposed tax on incomes over $5,000 a year.

Found His Place.

Two New England men were talking over the days of their boyhood when one referred to an old schoolmate who had a most unfortunate disposition.

"I often wonder what became of Dick," said his friend. "It always seemed to me that it wouldn't be possible for him to get any enjoyment out of life or to find any sort of work that suited him."

"Oh, he's fixed all right," said the other man. "I saw him in Chicago last year, where he has a job that suits him perfectly. He is station master in a place where there are fifty trains a day coming and going, and Dick sees somebody miss every one of them."

TY COBB TWICE:

AN UNIQUE PHOTOGRAPH

A photograph of the Detroit Tigers, reproduced in the July Popular Mechanics Magazine, created much comment, in that Ty Cobb, considered one of the greatest if not greatest baseball players in the world today, appears twice. The way in which he succeeded in appearing twice, however, is a very simple matter. The camera used to take the picture was of the panorama type, which was made to revolve slowly, from left to right, exposing but a small portion of the film at a time. Cobb stood third from the left end of the line of players when the camera started, and as soon as the lens had passed him he sprinted around back of the camera and was standing at the right end of the line before the camera reached the end of the picture.

LIFE-SAVING MOTOR FIRE TRUCK

The latest acquisition of the Springfield, Mass., fire department, which is a pioneer in the use of motor fire apparatus, is a life-saving motor truck. In the center of the body, between the long side seats, is a life net, folded in so compact a form that it does not interfere with the carrying capacity of the machine. Three scaling ladders are carried on metal rod supports above the life net. The other devices included in the equipment are a smoke helmet, an oxygen respirator for use in cases of partial suffocation, and a complete medical outfit.

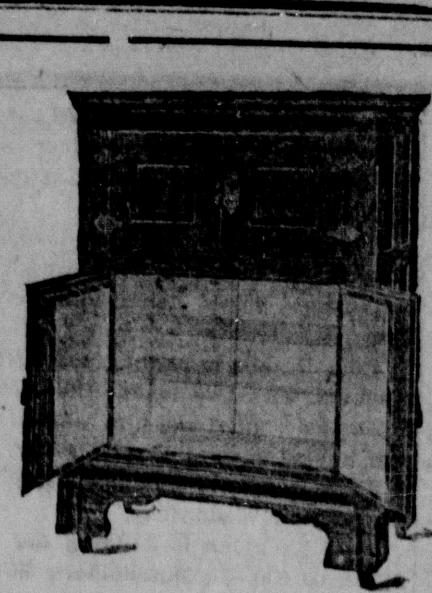

FEARFUL BURNING ITCH WAS CURED

By Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Another skin had itching on scalp. Hair Fell Out, Leaving Bald Spots. Now Hair Has Grown, Thanks to Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"I deem it my duty to tell about a cure that the Cuticura Soap and Ointment have made on myself. My trouble began in patches breaking out right to the edge of my hair on the forehead, and spread over the front part of the top of my head from ear to ear, and over my ears which caused a most fearful burning itch, or eczema. For three years I had this terrible breaking out on my forehead and scalp. I tried my family doctor and he failed to cure it. Then I tried the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and used them for two months with the result of a complete cure. Cuticura Soap and Ointment should have the credit due, and I have advised a lot of people to use them." (Signed) C. D. Farrington, Greek, N. C., Jan. 20, 1911.

"I will say that I have been suffering with an itching on my scalp for the past few years. My hair fell out in spots all over my head. My scalp started to trouble me with sores, then the sores healed up, and crusts formed on the top. Then the hair fell out and left me three bald spots the shape of a half dollar. I went to more than one doctor, but could not get any relief, so I started to use the Cuticura Remedies. I tried one bar of Cuticura Soap and some Cuticura Ointment, and felt relieved right away. Now the bald spots have disappeared, and my hair has grown, thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I highly recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all that are suffering with scalp troubles." (Signed) Samuel Stern, 236 Floyd St., Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 7, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold every where, liberal samples of each, with 25¢ back on the 25¢, will be sent post-free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 9A, Boston, Mass.

HONOR TITANIC HEROES

Never before in the history of the United States have the women of this country built up such a tremendous movement as in the case of the present undertaking of the Women's Titanic Memorial to erect in Washington a towering arch or majestic monument in honor of the men who gave up their lives on the Titanic to save the women and children. Practically every one of the 28,000 women's clubs and organizations of America has already pledged contributions and co-operation to this cause. Interest in it has been aroused from New York to Hawaii, from the Great Lakes to Porto Rico, among the rich and poor, among working women and women of leisure.

Not only have all the circles of civil life responded to the appeals for help in building this memorial, but the women of the United States Army and Navy have been organized to work as units in contributing money and arousing further interest in this plan of American women to do honor to the courage and nobility of men.

The movement known as the Women's Titanic Memorial was inaugurated during the last week of April, when Mrs. John Hays Hammond, famous for her philanthropic work, yielded to the suggestions of women from all parts of the country and consented to form the organization and to do everything in her power to help it to succeed.

Through her, Mrs. John Hay, the widow of the late Secretary of State, was persuaded to accept the chairmanship. Mrs. Hammond became secretary of the organization, and to the found Mrs. Taft, wife of the president, contributed the first dollar. The influence and executive ability of these women, with whom are associated more than one hundred of the most prominent women in the country, are supplemented by the financial and legal advice of such men as Edward J. Stettin, chairman of the last presidential inaugural committee, and George X. McAnahan, a leading attorney of the National Capital.

Ever since the movement was inaugurated, contributions have been coming into the central offices in Washington at the rate of $300 a day and more. Some of it has been given in sums ranging as high as $5,000, while most of it has been in the shape of $1 donations from women and young girls who wrote that they were only sorry they could not give more. And in the end, it is expected, this memorial will be built principally by those who make the smaller contributions so that, when the arch is outlined against the sky, it will have been erected by the representative womanhood of America.

CHICAGO ROAD NEWS.

June 22—Charlie Mossholder sold his hogs Monday and delivered them to Amboy.

Ben Smith hauled several loads of hogs to Nachusa last week, which at the present prices, netted him a good sum.

John DuBois is hauling posts from Nachusa with two teams, the second team tied behind the first wagon. He has hauled several loads already.

John Huyett and family visited at his father's Wednesday.

Jake Heckman is building the addition to Charlie Mossholder's house and will soon have it finished.

Miss Anna Johnson, who is helping Mrs. Kinney, visited at her home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Cramer entertained her two sisters from Dixon and Sterling at dinner Sunday.

The social at the Brick school on Thursday night was well attended, considering the inclemency of the weather.

Mrs. John Huyett was shopping in Dixon Friday.

There was a band of Gypsies, calling themselves Brazilians, infesting the Chicago Road Thursday night, and went into camp near Charlie Mossholder's. Four or five fat, sleek-looking women scoured the neighborhood in search of supplies, which, unfortunately in most cases, were not forthcoming. There were eight or ten wagons and something like 30 persons, including several able-bodied young men. There certainly ought to be some decided movement made to suppress such gangs as this and put them out of business. That strong, able-bodied men should be allowed to beg their living through the country, while there is so much work to be done, is nothing short of an outrage. The outfit moved on east this morning, where they will probably continue to "take in" other communities, begging and stealing sufficient to supply this army of parasites.

WALTON.

June 21—Miss Loretta Harvey went to Harmon Monday evening for a visit of two weeks with her sister.

Miss Marie Morrissey arrived home from Clinton, Iowa, last Wednesday, where she has been attending school at the St. Clare academy.

Delbert Rutt is now employed at the Head grocery store as clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dempsey spent Monday and Tuesday at Maytown.

Mrs. Jesse Eddy and children who have been visiting at the F. H. Dishong home, returned to their home in Compton on last Wednesday morning.

Miss Mollie Garland of Harmon is visiting at A. M. Head's.

F. J. Whitmore was in Amboy on Wednesday.

Mrs. Ed. Long and daughter, Lavon, visited at James Harvey's Saturday.

BARS MOST ALL OF THEM

At last we have a county board of education as is a county board, and having seen their duty they have "done gone and done it." The Wabash, Ind., county board of education announces that no teacher will be employed in the Wabash schools next year who wears short sleeves, short skirts or low necked dresses. The board furthermore declared that no engaged girl will be employed as instructor, as anticipated matrimony interferes with the proper discharge of their duties.—Mt. Vernon News.

SALOON VS. MOVING PICTURES

We fancy that the subject, "Resolved, that the nickel theaters have done more injury to the church than the saloons," which was selected by the young society of the South Park Salem Lutheran church at Rockford recently was one on which to sharpen their wits rather than one on which to take serious issue.

This lively young institution has its good and its bad features, but the objectionable ones are being eliminated. The moving picture show is a family amusement place. Women and children are its chief patrons and the managers must cater to them.

A baby's hand may be kissed, but not a baby's lips. Kisses often convey contagion, especially in the season when colds are prevalent.

A cold in the head is a disagreeable malady, and may be the precursor of a cold elsewhere. The person who has it should keep it, and so far as may be possible, establish a strict quarantine lest the cold be given to a friend.

SNOWS OF ETNA

Early in July there occur snowstorms about Mt. Etna, which at this time begins to scatter the accumulation of snow which that volcano has conserved during the winter. The crater of Etna is 3279 meters in height, and during the winter months the snow packs into the crevices of the mountain, to be driven out by the summer winds.—Harper's.

Royal Worcester and Bon Ton Corsets

THE WOMAN who purchases a BON TON or a ROYAL WORCESTER corset, does so with the maker's personal assurance that she is buying for the price asked, all that is consistent and possible, so far as quality, style, fit, workmanship and wear are concerned. In fact, with all these attributes combined in a corset, nothing is left to be desired.

It goes without saying that the BON TON is unquestionably the finest ready-to-wear corset made—the final word in the art of modern corsetry.

Just as the BON TON is the undisputed leader in its class, the ROYAL WORCESTER enjoys the unique prestige of being unmistakably the greatest corset value at a medium price. The majority always have worn the ROYAL WORCESTER. This has been so for fifty years, or since the first pair was made.

Our stock of corsets is complete, including high grade and medium priced goods, the new net corset, comfortable waists, nursing corsets, etc. etc., prices from 50c to $5. The best 50c Brassiers on the market in all sizes.

OHIO PAPER SAYS

WHISKEY BURNED BARN

The Kirk livery barn at Ohio was destroyed by fire last week, together with six head of horses and all the other contents. The Ohio Herald ascribes the cause of the fire to the carelessness of some drunken men who are supposed to have been imbibing from a jug in the hay mow, and to have dropped lighted matches in the hay.

BOOSTING THE BALL GAME.

In dealing with the baseball team we should use all the milk of human kindness possible. That milk should be up to the grade and able to pass the inspection from the health department.

The ball team is composed of human beings. They have their weaknesses the same as other men. That they have strong days is evidenced by the fact that they win quite often.

Every city of the size of Dixon needs a ball team. The only way to have a ball team is to support it. The stronger the support, the more expensive will be the players that can be hired.

The boosting idea is a good one, and everyone should take hold and help. Give the baseball boys hearty support and perhaps they will take more interest in putting up a good game. The audience has as much to do as the players at times. It is hard for a team to do its best playing to empty benches.

GIRL BATHER LOSES CLOTHES.

St. Louis, June 22—Mrs. Joseph Rain of Alton, Ill., a W. C. T. She carried away all of one swimmer's wearing apparel and compelled the girl to wait until dark before she could go home. The girl wrapped herself in a fish net and walked across country to a quarry camp, where the workmen supplied her with overalls, a shirt, shoes and

IMPOSSIBLE.

A director of the White Star line told the British Titanic investigators that it would be "impossible" to man ships like the Titanic with a crew of able-bodied seamen, that it would be "impracticable" for such a vessel to carry enough life-boats to accommodate all the passengers, and that in rough weather life-boats could not be launched anyhow.

What this Britisher means is that these things would be inconsistent with the huge dividends the White Star has been paying. If steamship companies were held responsible for damages and compelled to reimburse the heirs of their victims, as well as such survivors as suffer mental anguish and financial hardship, the word "impossible" would soon disappear from the boat owner's lexicon.

THE CHILDREN.

When the lessons and tasks are all ended,
And the school for the day is dismissed,
And the little ones gather around me
To bid me good night and be kissed;
O, the little white arms that encircle
My neck in their tender embrace!
O, the smiles that are halos of heaven,
Shedding sunshine of love on my face!

And when they are gone, I sit dreaming
Of my childhood, too lovely to last;
Of love that my heart will remember
When it wakes to the pulse of the past.
Ere the world and its wickedness made me
A partner of sorrow and sin—
When the glory of God was about me,
And the glory of gladness within.

All my heart grows weak as a woman's
And the fountain of feeling will flow,
When I think of the paths steep and stony,
Where the feet of the dear ones must go;
Of the mountains of sin hanging o'er them,
Of the tempest of fate blowing wild,
O, there is nothing on earth half so holy
As the innocent heart of a child.
They are idols of hearts and of house holds;

They are angels of God in disguise.
His sunlight still sleeps in their tresses,
His glory still gleams in their eyes;
O, those truants from home and from heaven—
They have made me more manly and mild;
And I know how Jesus could liken
The kingdom of God to a child.

I ask not a life for the dear ones,
All radiant, as others have done,
But that life may have just enough shadow
To temper the glare of the sun.
I would pray God to guard them from evil,
But my prayer would bound back to myself;
Ah! a seraph may pray for a sinner,
But a sinner must pray for himself.

The twig is so easily bended,
I have banished the rule and the rod;
I have taught them the goodness of knowledge,
They have taught me the goodness of God.
My heart is the dungeon of darkness,
Where I saw them for breaking a rule;
My frown is sufficient correction;
My love is the law of the school.

I shall leave the old house in the autumn,
To traverse its threshold no more;
Ah! how shall I sigh for the dear ones
That meet me each morn at the door!
I shall miss the "good nights" and the kisses,
And the gush of their innocent glee,
The group on its green, and the flowers
That are brought every morning to me.

I shall miss them at morn and at even,
Their song in the school and the street;
I shall miss the low hum of their voices,
And the tread of their delicate feet.
When the lessons of life are all ended,
And death says "the school is dismissed!"
May the little ones gather around me,
To bid me good night and be kissed.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

The organization of the Kansas Men's Equal Suffrage League has been completed by the selection of a full quota of officers, says the Topeka Capital. Their active work in the campaign will begin immediately and a number of speakers will take the platform in support of the suffrage amendment. The schedule of meetings is now being arranged and will cover the entire state.

The late King of Denmark in 1908 signed the bill giving equal municipal rights to Danish women. He was also in favor of suffrage for women, for which they have petitioned, and which, it is hoped, will soon be given them.

It is just fifty years since the women of Sweden were given the municipal franchise, and there is every prospect that the present parliament will pass the universal suffrage bill now under discussion in the Lower House.

Professor Andrist of the University of Minnesota, democratic candidate for governor of the state, openly espouses universal suffrage for women in a statement of principles on which he will make his campaign. "There is no sound reason why the women of Minnesota should not have the right to express themselves on all questions when their settlement affects them to as great a degree as it does the male population," reads the statement, after declaring for a provision by the legislature permitting voters to express themselves in reference to woman suffrage.

Mayor Blankenburg of Philadelphia has announced the appointment of 21 prominent men and women to act as a vice commission to report to him the best method of handling not only the social evil, but other forms of vice. It will be the duty of the commission to make personal investigation of the conditions in Philadelphia.

GREAT EMPEROR'S PET NAME

In Home Circle German War Lord Permits Himself to Be Known as "Willy."

In the Woman's Home Companion there is an intimate personal story of Emperor William's only daughter, Victoria Luise, in which many new facts are brought out about the emperor and empress of Germany. Following is a brief extract:

"The emperor, in absence of his consort, speaks of her as 'my wife,' the empress in the home circle addresses him as 'Willy.' The former alludes to his family, from the crown prince to the princess, as 'my young ones,' the latter speaks of them not by title, but as 'my children,' both expressions so clearly conveying the close existing attachment.

"Very often the emperor gives evidence at unexpected moments of the ever-present thought with him of his family. At times, when they were small children, and he was being entertained at state banquets as the guest of princes or cities, he would slip bonbons into his pocket, quietly saying, 'These are for the young ones; something brought home always from the children; I know that from experience.'

"It is told of the emperor that in Rome, when he was selecting a gown to take home to present to the empress, a relative advised as choice an elaborate one, mainly of lace. 'Impossible!' he answered. 'With the children constantly clamoring over her, it would be in ribbons.'

If Asked to Designate the Best Method of Lighting a House, Your Reply of Course Would Be "By Electric Light"

One of the large facts hammered out by our experience is that if an average house is without electric light, it is because it does not happen to be equipped for it.

We meet that demand by a plan of wiring houses at cost and spreading the monthly payments over a period of two years.

An important function of our house wiring department is to ascertain ways to reduce the cost of wiring. Because it is to the interest of all concerned that it be as low as possible.

We've got results from that department of costs. The expense of wiring a house has been brought down where it is low. And that statement refers to little houses as well as large ones.

If the subject interests you—and we're very sure it will if your house is not wired—a telephone call on our office or a postal card will bring in response a representative who will estimate the cost of wiring and give you full details of the plan.

Item of importance: An old house is wired just as easily as a new one. No inconvenience to the occupants.

MISS MINERVA and WILLIAM GREEN HILL

By FRANCES BOYD CALHOUN

(Copyright, by Kelly & Britton Co.)

"Hush!" he whispered as Jimmy opened the door, "you'll get eat up alive if you don't look out." His tone was so mysterious and thrilling and he looked so scared tied to the chair that the younger boy's blood almost froze in his veins.

"What you doing all tied up so?" he asked, in low, frightened tones.

"Mr. Algernon Jones done it. I spec' he's a robber an' is jes' a-roberlin' right now," answered Billy.

"I'll untie you," said his chum.

"Now, you better not," said Billy bravely. "He might git away. You leave me jes' like he fixed me so's you can try to ketch him. I hear him in the dinin' room now. You leave me right here an' step over to yo' house an' phone to some mens to come and git him quick. Shet the ag'in an' don't make no noise. Fly, now!"

And Jimmy did fly. He again took the garden route and in a minute was at the telephone with the receiver to his ear.

"Hello! Is that you, Miss Central? This is me," he howled into the transmitter. "Gimme Miss Minerva's beau. I don't know his number, but he's got a office over my papa's bank."

His father being out of town, the little boy shrewdly decided that Miss Minerva's beau was the next best man to help capture the robber.

"Miss Minerva what lives by me," he shrieked.

Fortunately Central recognized his childish voice and was willing to humor him, so as she too knew Miss Minerva's beau the connection was quickly made.

"Hello! Is that you, major? This is me. If you don't want Mr. Algernon Jones to be robbing everything Miss Minerva's got you getter get a move on and come right this minute. You got to hustle and bring 'bout a million pistols and guns and swords and tomahawks and all the mens you can find and dogs. He's the fiercest robber ever was, and he's already done the Billy to the bath room chair and done eat up 'bout a million cold biscuits, I spec'. All of us is 'bout to be slewed. Goodbye."

The plump, round gentleman at the other end of the wire heard this amazing message in the utmost confusion and consternation. He frantically rang the telephone again and again but could get no answer from the Garner's home so he put on his hat and walked the short distance to Miss Minerva's house.

Jimmy was waiting to receive him at the front gate, having again eluded Sarah Jane's vigilance.

"Hush!" he whispered mysteriously, "he's in the dining room. Ain't you bringed nobody else? Get your pistol and come on."

Mr. Algernon Jones, feeling safe and secure for the next hour and having partaken of a light lunch, was in the act of transferring some silver spoons from the sideboard to his pockets when a noise at the dining room door caused him to look in that direction. With an oath he sprang forward, and landed his fist upon the nose of a plump gentleman standing there, bringing a stream of blood and sending him sprawling to the floor. Mr. Jones overturned a big-eyed little boy who was in his way, and walking rapidly in the direction of the railroad, the erstwhile plumber was seen no more.

Jimmy quickly recovered himself and sprang to his feet. Seeing the blood streaming down the white shirt front of Miss Minerva's unconscious beau, he gathered his wits together and took the thread of events again into his own little hands. He flung himself over the fence careless of Sarah Jane this time, mounted a chair and once more rang the telephone.

"Hello! Is that you, Miss Central? This is me some more. Gimme Dr. Sanford's office please."

"Hello! Is that you, doctor? This is me. Mr. Algernon Jones done kilt Miss Minerva's beau. He's on her back porch bloody all over. He's 'bout the deadest man they is. You'd better come terecky you can and bring the hearse, and a coffin and a clean shirt and a tombstone. He's wounded me but I ain't dead yet. Goodbye."

Dr. Sanford received Jimmy's crazy message in astonishment. He, too, rang the telephone again and again, but could hear nothing more, so he walked down to Miss Minerva's house and rang the door bell. Jimmy opened the door and led the way to the back porch, where the injured man, who had just recovered consciousness, was sitting limply in a chair.

"What does all this mean? Are you hurt?" asked the doctor as he examined Mr. Jones' victim.

"No, I think I'm all right now," was the reply, "but that scoundrel certainly gave me a severe blow."

Billy, shut up in the bath room and listening to all the noises and confusion, had been scared nearly out of his senses. He had kept still as a mouse till now, when thinking he heard friendly voices he yelled out: "Open the do' an' untie me."

"We done forgot Billy," said the little rescuer, as he ran to the bath room door and opened it. He was followed by the doctor, who cut the cords that bound the prisoner.

"Now, William," commanded Dr. Sanford, as they grouped themselves around the stout, plump gentleman in the chair, "begin at the beginning, and let us get at the bottom of this."

"Mr. Algernon Jones he come to the gate," explained the little boy, "an' he say he goin' to fix the water pipe an' he say he's a plumber. He's a very 'greeable man, but I don't want Aunt Minerva to marry him, now. I was plump tickled at him an' I tuck him to the bath room an' fust thing I knowed he grabbed holler me an' shuck me like what you see a cat do a mouse, an' he say—"

"And he'd more'n a million whisks," interrupted Jimmy, who thought Billy was receiving too much attention, "and he—"

"One at a time," said the doctor.

"Proceed, William."

"An' he say he'll bust my brains out my head if I holler, an' I ain't a-goin' to holler nother, an' he tie me to a chair an' tie my mouth up an' lock the do'—"

"And I comed over," said Jimmy, eagerly, "and I run home and I see Mr. Algernon Jones is a robber an' I 'phoned to Miss Minerva's beau, and if he'd brung what I telled him, he wouldn't never got cracked in the face like Mr. Algernon Jones done crack him, and Billy got to all time let robbers in the house so they can knock mans and little boys down."

"While you stand talking here the scoundrel will get away," said the injured man.

"That's so," agreed Dr. Sanford, "so I'll go and find the sheriff."

Sarah Jane's huge form loomed up in the back hall doorway, and she grabbed Jimmy by the arm.

"Yaas," she cried, "you gwine take you a nap is yuh, yuh 'celful caterpillar. Come on home dis minute."

"Lemme go, Sarah Jane," protested the little boy trying to jerk away from her. "I got to stay here and perter' Billy and Miss Minerva's beau, 'cause they's a robber might come back and tie 'em up and make 'em bleed if I ain't here."

"Did Mr. Algernon Jones make all that blood?" asked the awe-stricken little boy gazing in admiration at the victim of Mr. Jones' energy. "You sho' is a hero to stan' up an' let him knock you down like he done."

"Yes," cried Jimmy, as the black woman dragged him kicking and struggling through the hall, "we's all heroes, but I bet I'm the heroest hero they is, and I bet Miss Minerva's going to be mad 'bout you all spillin' all that blood on her nice clean floor."

"Lemme see yo' big toe what was shot off by all them Yankees and injuns what you killed in the war," said Billy to Miss Minerva's beau.

The major smiled at the little boy; a man-to-man smile, full of good comradeship, humor and understanding. Billy's little heart went out to him at once.

"I can't take off my shoes at present," said the veteran. "Well, I must be going. I feel all right now."

Billy looked at him with big, solemn eyes.

"You couldn't never go 'thout yo' pants, could you?" he asked, "'cause Aunt Minerva jest natchelly despises pants."

The man eyed him quizzically.

"Well, no; I don't think I could," he replied: "I don't think I'd look any better in a Mother Hubbard or a kimono."

The little boy sighed.

"Which you think is the fittest name," asked he, "Billy or William?"

"Billy, Billy," enthusiastically came the reply.

"I like mens," said William Green Hill. "I sho' wisht' you could come and live right here with me and Aunt Minerva."

"I wish so, too," said the major.

CHAPTER XV.

Billy, the Credulous.

After the advent and disappearance of the exciting Mr. Jones, Miss Minerva, much to Billy's joy, had a telephone put in the house. He sat in the hall the day it was put in waiting for it to ring.

Jimmy, coming up on the front porch and through the half-open door and seeing him sitting there, rang the door bell just for a joke, ready to burst into a laugh when the other little boy turned around and saw who it was. Billy, however, in his eagerness mistook the ring for the telephone bell and joyfully climbed up on the chair, which he had stationed in readiness. He took down the receiver as he had seen Jimmy do in his home, and without once seeing that little boy standing a few feet from him, he yelled at the top of his lungs:

"Hello! Who is that?"

"This is Marie Yarbrough," replied Jimmy from the doorway, instantly recognizing Billy's mistake.

Marie Yarbrough was a little girl much admired by the two boys, as she had a pony and a cart of her very own. However, she lived in a different part of the town and attended another Sunday school, so they had no speaking acquaintance with her.

"I jus' wanted to talk to you," went on the counterfeited Marie, stifling a laugh and trying to talk like a girl. "I think you're 'bout the sweetest little boy there is and I want you to come to my party."

"I sho' will," screamed the gratified Billy, "if Aunt Minerva'll lemme. What makes you talk so much like Jimmy?"

"Who?—that little old Jimmy Garner? I hope I don't talk like that chicken; he's 'bout the meanliest boy that is and I like you 'nother sght better'n him. You're a plumb jim-dandy, Billy," came from the doorway.

"So's you," howled back the delighted and flattered Billy.

Jimmy thought he would pop wide open in his efforts to keep from laughing.

"How'd you like to be my sweet-heart?" he asked.

"I's already promised to marry Miss Cecilia when I puts on long pants, but if we ever gets a 'voice I'd 'nother sght rather have you 'n anybody. You can be my lady frien', anyhow," was the loud reply.

"I'm coming for you to go riding in my little pony and cart," said a giggling Jimmy.

"All right, I's going to ask Aunt Minerva to lemme go. Can't we take Jimmy, too?"

This was too much for the little boy. He had held himself in as long as possible. He burst into a peal of laughter so merry and so loud that Billy, turning quickly, almost fell out of the chair.

"What you doin', a-listening to me talk to Marie Yarbrough 'thoo the telephone?" he questioned angrily.

"Marie you pig's foot," was the in-elegant response. "That was just me a-talking to you all the time. You all time think you talkin' to little girls and all times 't ain't nobody but me."

A light dawned on the innocent one. He promptly hung up the receiver and got down out of the chair. Before Jimmy was fully aware of his intention, Billy had thrown him to the floor and was giving him a good pommeling.

"Say you got 'nough?" he growled from his position astride of the other boy.

"I got 'nough, Billy," repeated Jimmy.

"Say you sorry you done it."

"I say I sorry I done it," abjectly repeated the younger child. "Get up, Billy, 'fore you bust my stommek open."

"Say you ain't never a-goin' to tell nobody, cross yo' heart," was the next command.

"I say I ain't never going to tell nobody, cross my heart. Get up, Billy, 'fore you makes me mad, and ain't no telling what I'll do to you if I get mad."

"Say you's a low-down Jesebel skunk."

"I ain't going to say I'm nothing of the kind," spiritedly replied the under dog. "You all time wanting somebody to call theifselfs somepin. You're a low-down Isabella skunk yourself."

"You got to say it," insisted the victor, renewing hostilities.

"I'll say I'm a Isabella, 'cause Isabella discovered America, and's in the Bible," replied the tormented one; "Miss Cecilia 'splainned it to me."

Billy accepted his compromise and Jimmy's flattened stomach, relieved of its burden, puffed out to its usual roundness as that little boy rose to his feet, saying:

"Sam Lamb would 'a' died a laughing, Billy, if he'd seen you talkin'ing."

"He'd better never hear tell of it," was the threatening rejoinder.

BIG SHIP CUTS THROUGH DOCK AND SINKS VESSEL.

A striking illustration of the force of a steamship under way is afforded by a recent accident at Seattle, Wash. in which the steel steamship, Alameda, a vessel of 3158 gross tons, through misinterpretation of engine-room signals, cut clean through a dock 60 feet wide, amputating the outer end as neatly as a knife cuts cheese. Passing on through the dock the steel steamship cut an S-foot gash half way through the wooden stern-wheel steamboat Telegraph, sinking her immediately. A diagram in the Popular Mechanics gives a graphic idea of the accident.

DELEGATES HAVE LITTLE TO SAY DURING GRIND

Convention Leaders Arrange Program Over Night That Passes Body.

BOTH SIDES ARE SATISFIED

Root's Ruling on Contested Men Caused Cheers, But Its Effect on Colonel's Interest Was Disastrous.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 22.—It may be that history is being written at the Coliseum, but it is not being made there. The factories from which the product is being turned out are located in three or four of Chicago's big hotels.

For five days the delegates have been herded into their seats in the convention hall to witness the inserting into the pages of history those things which the leaders arranged for.

It is not charged that either side in the prolonged controversy is guilty of deliberate machine methods, but it is a system; system for the accomplishment of purposes that do not consist entirely of the desire to nominate a candidate for the presidency.

Leaders Satisfied With Results.

And the leaders on both sides profess to be satisfied with the results achieved so far.

Shortly after the convention convened yesterday Chairman Root insisted upon recognizing Governor Hadley, though at that time the Missouri executive was not on his feet, while the chairman of the Virginia delegation was clamoring loudly for recognition and the privilege of making a motion. Chairman Root explained why he insisted on recognizing Governor Hadley just at that time. His reason expressed in the fewest words possible was that it had previously been arranged for Mr. Hadley to, at that particular point in the program, introduce a resolution which would prevent any of the 72 delegates contested by the Roosevelt organization from voting until their cases had been settled by the convention. This would have meant that none of these delegates could have voted upon the Alabama contests. If the Taft delegates from Alabama won they could then vote on succeeding contests, and so on through the entire list.

Watson Does His Part.

It had also been arranged that Mr. Watson would immediately offer a motion to table the resolution, which he did, and the motion was tabled by a vote of 499 to 560.

And the reasons:

A few moments later Governor Stubbs of Kansas practically explained why the Roosevelt leaders were insisting upon these roll calls, when he said that the proceedings of the convention were making hundreds of thousands of progressive votes, all over the country; that every roll call meant thousands added to the list.

Mr. Watson explained the reasons on the Taft side when he said: "While we control the convention, we wish to give the Roosevelt following every opportunity to show their strength. We wish to demonstrate to all Republican voters that the president's followers are playing the game fair."

Delegates Vote as Leaders Say.

These prearranged motions follow one after another so fast, and all so nearly alike, and for the same purpose, that the uninformed on both sides seldom know just what they are voting for, but accept the word of the leaders and, as a rule, vote as they are told.

The Roosevelt following is battling along exactly the same lines upon which they started within ten minutes after the convention was called to order last Tuesday. Their one object has been to unseat 72 of the delegates seated by the national committee, and who Colonel Roosevelt claims obtained their seats by fraud.

Root Catches Unthinking.

Chairman Root caught the audience when he ruled that these contested delegates could not vote in their own cases. Under this ruling had the credentials committee reported all contested seats at one time it would have instantly given the control of the convention to the colonel, but the committee reported but one case at a time, and in this way there were only a few delegates deprived of voting on any one contest.

Colonel Roosevelt polled his heaviest vote on the motion to table the minority report of the credentials committee on the California contests. The noes in that case being 529 against 542. He struck the low point on the Arizona vote with but 164.

While there are a few scattering votes in a number of states, the greater part of this difference can be attributed to the delegations from Wisconsin and Idaho. They were with the colonel on the Hadley resolution, on the Alabama and California cases, and against him in the Arizona case.

Roosevelt's Strength Still Problem.

No roll call yet taken necessarily shows the actual strength or weakness of the Roosevelt vote. Many of the delegates instructed for him have persistently voted against him on every roll call, but these delegates insist they will carry out their instructions and vote for him on a nominating ballot. On the other hand on some of the roll calls he has received some votes from the Taft following.

And the fight is going to go on just about as it has been going. It will take practically all of today and possibly tonight for the convention to dispose of the contests. Then must come the question of permanent chairman, over which there promises to be another fight. The national committee has engaged the Coliseum for next week, and it is certain that Monday will see the big gathering still at work. It may be the middle of the week before the weary and worn delegates will be permitted to go home.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 22.

With their eyes heavy and members of delegations still waiting to be heard dropping to sleep in the hallways, the committee on credentials, which had been in session in the Coliseum annex since nine o'clock Thursday night, stuck to its task last night until it had completed its labor of making permanent the entire temporary roll of the national convention.

It took up every district in turn, and if the contesting Roosevelt men who had been thrown out by the national committee failed to appear, it accepted the Taft men named by the national committee and now sitting in the Coliseum convention.

The original Roosevelt fight had been narrowed by the Roosevelt leaders from 252 to 72 "vital contests," but the committee practically took up every contest heard by the national committee.

Special reports to the convention, however, were confined to the list of 72 contests, on which the Roosevelt forces have concentrated their attack. In the final report all the contests will be cleaned up.

Convention Hurries Work.

The national convention, in session in the adjoining Coliseum, tried to hurry the credentials' committee work so that it could complete its contest fights before yesterday's adjournment.

At six o'clock yesterday morning it had only settled 14 of the 72 contests considered vital by Governor Hadley and the Roosevelt leaders in their appeal from the decisions of the national committee.

All of them, together with 20 that the credentials committee took up on its own initiative, were settled for President Taft.

Decisions Affirmed.

The decisions were: Alabama, Ninth district, two delegates; Arizona, six delegates-at-large; Arkansas, Fifth district, two delegates; California, Fourth district, two delegates; Florida, six delegates-at-large and two each from First, Second and Third districts; Georgia, four delegates-at-large; Indiana, four delegates-at-large and two from the Thirteenth district.

Other delegates, where contests were not reopened, were declared seated by a unanimous vote of the committee.

California's two Taft delegates were seated by the committee at 5:45 o'clock yesterday morning after a striking debate. A motion to seat the Roosevelt delegates was defeated, 28 to 16.

MANY DIE IN COSTA RICA

Earthquake Shakes South American Country—Details Are Meager.

New Orleans, June 22.—Widespread death and damage to property were caused by an earthquake which shook Costa Rica, according to a dispatch received here from Port Limon. The number of dead may reach into the hundreds.

Port Limon suffered heavily. Several bodies have been recovered there and only a small part of the ruins has been searched. In another town nearly 20 bodies have been found and nine in another. Scores were injured.

The Costa Ricans met in special session and appropriated $50,000 for the relief of the sufferers.

The entire country has been thrown into a state of terror, due to the horrifying phenomena which accompanied the shock. Although the tropical summer season now prevails, there was a snowstorm following the quake. Faping fissures opened in the earth, devouring houses and in some cases prostrating whole forests.

It is feared here that Costa Rica has suffered a replica of the catastrophe of May 4, 1910, when 2,000 persons were killed by an earthquake. All efforts to obtain a more detailed account of the disaster have been futile.

Solid As a Rock!

Here is the absolutely new anchoring device used only on the old reliable Saginaw Silo, which makes it as solid as a piece of granite—immovable as a mountain. It is our Handy Inner Anchoring Hoop, which circles the inside of the silo above the silage and directly opposite the top outside hoop. It supports any stave that might loosen and prevents them falling inward. Once in place, it needs no attention, no adjusting. Cables from anchoring points to ground rods complete support that dynamite could hardly move. No loose staves! No falling in! No blowing down! Write today for details. SHIP'S CAT REFUSES TO SAIL

Reuben, a Monster Yellow Tom, Deserts Vessel and Crew is Superstitious.

Bangor.—Something new in sea superstition is just now engaging the attention of the Grand Banks fishermen who sail from Bucksport and Bangor. The facts are plain as day, but whether they mean good luck or bad no one has as yet been able to decide.

The sum and substance of it all is that Reuben, the monster white-and-yellow tomcat of the Bangor Grand Banker Lizzie Griffin has deserted—mutilated, in fact. He was born of a seafaring mother on board the schooner four years ago, and has sailed on her every season since, including hering trips to Newfoundland. But this spring, after a visit at the warehouse of the vessel's owners in Bangor, he manifested a strong aversion to the sea and declined to go to Bucksport to join the vessel. Captain Anderson had no idea of losing his pet and mascot, and so Reuben was put into a covered market basket and taken to Bucksport a prisoner.

Once on board the vessel, however, he glared savagely about, aloft and aloft, and then made a flying leap to the pier. Again and again was Reuben brought back on board, fifteen times in all, but every time he managed to escape and get back to the pier. Finally they put him in a box and fastened the cover securely, as they thought. Then the schooner's stern lines were cast off and she swung out into the stream, but the bow hawser was still out, and before it could be cast off Reuben managed to some mysterious way to get out of his prison box and in an instant was over the bows, treading the bawser like a tight rope performer and reaching the pier safely. So they had to let him go, and now he is back in Bangor, at the Jones fish house, where he spends the nights in chasing wharf rats and gossiping with the dissipated Toms and Tabs of Broad street.

Now, when rats desert a vessel, the crew all want to quit, for that is a sign of bad luck. To bring a black cat on board is also bad luck. The question is, "What sort of luck follows desertion and mutiny by a white and yellow cat—a regular sailor cat that can go aloft as quickly as any man?"

Hadn't Seen Them.

"You know," said Miss Oddways, looking critically at a picture that a friend had purchased, "that landscape does remind me so of Mr. Vermillion's work. You've seen his pictures, of course?"

"No," said the friend frankly, "I haven't."

"Not seen Mr. Vermillion's paintings! Why, my dear, and you an art connoisseur! I understand he has a picture in every saloon in Paris."
